"CCHS is offering a degree that works for working nurses. With their help, anyone can do it." – Hannah Cook

If you're able to read this email, you'll have no problem getting to class.

At Carolinas College of Health Sciences, we know how busy working nurses can be. That's why we're offering our BSN classes 100% online. Now you can earn your degree while still earning a paycheck.

We want our students to become lifelong learners, and here's one more way they can do it. One of the reasons why our graduates are so successful is they are encouraged and empowered to continue learning after they've graduated. We instill them with the confidence to ask questions of their colleagues, so that they continuously grow professionally. Now, by offering a BSN degree, we're also helping them grow their credentials.
